Franklin-Ogdensburg Mineralogical Society, Inc.

website: www.fomsnj.org

The Franklin-Ogdensburg Mineralogical Society, Inc. (FOMS) provides programs designed to benefit the community, mineral collectors and others interested in the minerals, mineralogy, history and geology of the Franklin-Ogdensburg Mining District of New Jersey

Our Mission:

To establish and maintain, in cooperation with other interested groups, a permanent museum in Franklin, NJ for the minerals of Franklin and Ogdensburg

To develop new information on the minerals and mineralogy through cooperative programs with universities and other scientific organizations and individuals

To obtain and make available accurate, up-to-date information on the minerals and mineralogy of the area

To facilitate collecting of the local minerals while conserving material for future collectors

To facilitate accurate identification of the local minerals

To promote fellowship and the advancement of mineralogy and geology by providing meetings for members of the Society

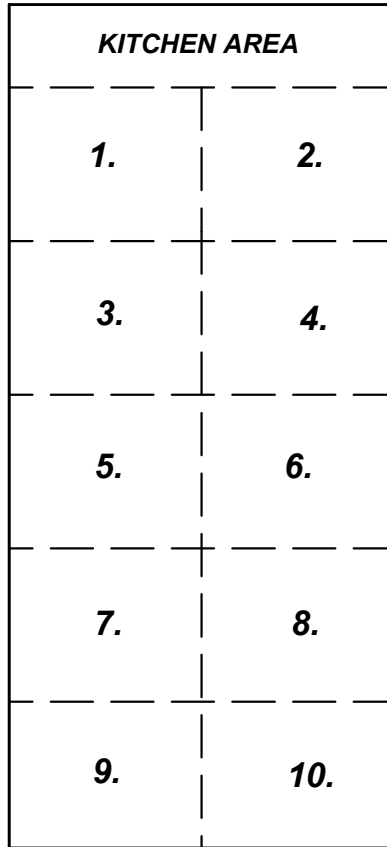

Become a member

Our yearly activities consist of seven scheduled meetings and field trips. Meetings are open to the public and are held at 1:30 pm, usually in Kraissl Hall at the Franklin Mineral Museum on Evans St. in Franklin, NJ. Members receive our official publication, The Picking Table, which is issued twice a year in the spring and fall. It features articles of interest to the mineralogical community that pertain to the Franklin-Ogdensburg area and will advise you of the dates of meetings, field trips and other activities of the Society. The FOMS activity schedule is also posted on the Franklin-Ogdensburg Mineralogical Society public group on Facebook. To become a member, please visit the website, where you will find and print the membership application.

About our website:

Our professionally designed and maintained website contains a plethora of mineralogical information. Some of the content hosted includes a comprehensive list of all the minerals in the District (with photos), a pdf file compilation of past issues of The Picking Table, a glossary of frequently used local terms and terminology, information on activities past and present and a listing of upcoming events. www.fomsnj.org
